

LinxFind™

LinxFind allows you to be mobile, and, at the same time, remain in touch with all of your callers—if you choose to—virtually no matter where you are.

How many times have you felt like a hostage in your own office, waiting for an important call, missing meetings, and disrupting your personal schedule? Now, with LinxFind, you're free to leave your office for meetings, and do the things that you need to do, without the fear of missing that important call.

LinxFind forwards your calls to any phone that you specify with a simple touch-tone command—you receive all your calls, no matter where you are. You decide where to take calls, even when your schedule changes unexpectedly. With LinxFind, you'll never have another important call go to voice mail, even if you are out of the office.

When a caller rings your office and you're not there to answer, LinxFind instantly sends the call to your mobile phone, your home office phone, or any other number that you specify.

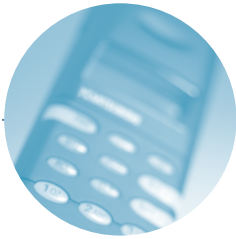

LinxFind announces each caller, allowing you to choose which calls to take and which ones to send to voice mail. It allows you to be mobile, and, at the same time, remain in touch with all of your callers—if you choose to—virtually no matter where you are.

LinxFind Features:

- Ability to route calls to any phone
- Caller announcement (call screening)
- Instant call return
- Operator option
- Local and toll free access
- Message retrieval from any location
- Pager notification for incoming calls and messages

LinxFind Benefits:

- Never miss an important call
- Provides control over which calls to take
- Increases productivity
- Eliminates phone tag frustration
- Saves you money
- Grants the freedom and flexibility to work away from the office

How LinxFind Works

LinxFind announces each caller, allowing you to choose which calls to take and which ones to send to voice mail. You can also route calls to a designated colleague through the Personal Operator option in LinxFind. You can even return calls from within LinxFind while listening to voice mail using its Instant Call Return feature. And, LinxFind gives you the option of receiving a page when a caller is holding for you, or when you have a new voice mail message.

